Don't "Follow the Leader"

The "leader" is an ancient artifice employed by the so-called "economy stores" to create the impression that their prices are low.

They sell an article of standard brand several cents cheaper than it can be bought elsewhere—oftentimes cheaper than the dealer himself can buy it.

Now, if these stores carried out this policy on all their goods they would be doing business at an actual loss. Why, then, do they make this sacrifice on some standard article? Because they expect to get it back with good interest on other and unidentified good which the uninitiated think they are getting cheap because the "leader" was cheap!

Real economy is in dealing where you have absolute confidence in the grocer.

We are in a position to serve you intelligently. We make it our business to test everything we recommend.

When Ryzon was introduced we knew that it was the product of the General Chemical company, a great Chemical Organization, and must be worth trying. We did, and now we know why they call it "The Perfect Baking Powder."

We consider the Ryzon Baking Book of untold value. It was the first baking powder manual to introduce level measurements. That's one reason why we never have any complaints from Ryzon—women can't help but use it accurately and they have uniformly better baking. Ask about these 200 recipes when you come in the store—you can get them for 30c.

SCHOOL COLUMN

(Edited by X, Y, and Z.)

Small kindnesses, small courtesies, small considerations, habitually practiced in our social intercourse, give a greater charm to the character than the display of great talent and accomplishments.—Ketty.

The Juniors are all excitement, owing to the difficulty of getting an orchestra for the J Hop, the invitations are late in getting out, but the date remains the same, February 13.

The Caesar class is what you might call migratory. The class was first held in room 40, then in the Laboratory, now in Miss Macauley's room. Why not try the furnace room next, Miss Wells?

We expect volumes of music to come rolling out of the Assembly room on Mondays and Wednesdays. Emerson Brown has entered High School chorus.

The Physics class will begin the study of heat next week. We wish they could have made a study of the heat or maybe we should say temperature of the Assembly room last month.

The G. H. S. boys' basket ball team accepts the challenge of the Boy's Independent club of Grayling. Our open date is any Saturday night. When shall it be? Gordon Davidson, Manager.

Rex Estelle has been given that most high position of High School comedian. He can't even go to church without making the girls in the choir laugh.

Why Rex, aren't you ashamed?

Miss Wells has a special class for whispering after school. Jack Cameron and Doris McLeod were notified of their nomination to this party. Only their actions the last part of the day and their dignity as Juniors kept them from being elected.

Miss Hoyt (Modern History):—"What is fencing?"

Earl Nelson: "Sheep raising."

French Translation. Mildred Bates was asked to translate this sentence from French: This poor boy is very hungry. Give him a big slice of bread and also some butter and a glass of milk.

She read it: This poor boy is very hungry. Give him a big slice of bread and also some butter and a glass of beer.

Doris McLeod: Translating the sentence, Le garçon de cabine vient faire notre connaissance. (The cabin boy came in to make our acquaintance.) "The cabin boy came in to make our beds."

Miss Macauley, English 9th A: "What is the feminine for lad?" Janet: "Gal."

The Matter With. What's the matter with G. H. S. these days?

Miss Wells—The pupils don't stick to a thing until they have accomplished it.

Miss Loss—Carelessness and inaccuracy.

Miss Macauley—Too much individual spirit, not enough school spirit.

Miss Hoyt—(Too Human.)

Miss Button—Afflicted with pleasurable-itis.

Mr. Fox—Not enough home study.

Miss Massa—Too much inclination on the part of the students to copy instead of doing their own work.

"There's a silvery lining. Thru the dark clouds shining." Next week will appear the brighter side of G. H. S.

The Graduation exercises were held in the Opera House.

The class motto was: "First build, then launch."

Josephine Jones—Mrs. Peterson of Chehalis, Wash.

Margaret Hanson, now Mrs. Graham of Detroit.

Pansy A. Havens, now a nurse in Seattle, Wash.

Nellie Sanderson—Not known.

Frank Michelson—Lumberman in Detroit.

DEVELOPMENT BUREAU 7 YEARS OLD

ANNUAL MEETING, ELECTION OF OFFICERS AND "GET TOGETHER DINNER" HELD JANUARY 23.

Large Attendance at Banquet Held in Evening at Wenonah.

The annual meeting of the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau was held in Bay City January 23, and was followed by a banquet at the Wenonah in the evening, attended by about 160 guests who came from all over the district, with a number of others from outside of Northeastern Michigan, including men from Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint and Pontiac.

At the annual meeting in the afternoon, James L. Snody was re-elected president of the organization; John Xull, of Vanderbilt, first vice-president; Robert Rayburn, of Alpena, second vice-president, and Marius Hanson of Grayling, treasurer.

The report of Secretary Marston reviewed the work which has been done during the past year and Treasurer Hanson's report showed that the bureau has been using its money to advantage.

President Snody, in a short address, reviewed the growth of the district and some of the especial features of the bureau work which had contributed to that growth. He also outlined some of the things which he would like to accomplish in the future and among other things advocated the offering of substantial prizes for the best samples of grains and other farm produce to be sent to the bureau and exhibited at its annual meeting.

Mr. Snody promised a personal donation of $25 toward a special prize for the best sample of corn and suggested that others might do likewise and the bureau could supplement these donations with other prizes. The one condition he attached to the prizes is to be that the samples submitted should become the property of the bureau, to be used for exhibit purposes.

Regret Saginaw's Defection. Directors of the association expressed their regret at the failure of Saginaw county to retain its membership in the bureau. "Saginaw is one of the trading centers of the entire northeastern Michigan district and it ought to be deeply interested in the effort of these northern counties to develop their territory and to assist in that work, for what helps one part of the district cannot fail to be a benefit to all of the others," said one of the directors.

The board of directors, as selected by the various counties of the district, is as follows, the first named being the member of the executive committee: Alpena—Robert Rayburn, A. B. Crow, Alpena; Moses Sharp, Cathro. Arenac—H. A. Chamberlain, Standish; A. H. Townsend, Twining; John Donnelly, Sterling.

Bay County—W. G. MacEdward, Frank A. Hewitt, Bay City; John Anderson, Crump.

Cheboygan—F. E. Skeels, Wolverine; Al H. Weber, E. L. LeBlanc, Cheboygan.

Crawford—Marius Hanson, Grayling; J. E. Kellogg, Lovells; Charles Craven, Frederic.

Gladwin—J. Foster, A. J. Stevens, F. L. Prindle, Gladwin.

Iosco—C. F. Prescott, Tawas City; C. A. Pinkerton, East Tawas; Ernest Crego, Whittemore.

Midland—Leslie Madill, H. H. Dow, Midland; James Carty, Coleman.

Oscoda—A. W. Bissland, Ben J. Watters, Mio.

MINIATURE MARDI GRAS. Will be Remembered as One of the Most Enjoyable Affairs Given in Grayling.

Local Post No. 106 of the American Legion can well feel proud of themselves as splendid entertainers for the fine time they gave the large party of guests that attended their Masquerade party Friday evening.

Unusual interest preceded the party, for those who were planning on attending were busy getting ready suitable costumes to wear; a customer was arranged for to come here by the Legion and many secured their costumes from this lady. However there were some very clever disguises. The party had been advertised as a "Miniature Mardi Gras," and it was indeed such, as the ball room was gay with banners and flags. Flying from one side of the balcony to the other were streamers of flags of the allied nations and intertwined in the wire railing of the balcony were small American flags.

At each end of the room were large "Welcome" signs and near the entrance many medium size American flags were hung.

Clark's orchestra of eight pieces that furnished the music for dancing, found their places in a corner of the ball room, surrounded with small pine trees. In another corner of the room was a cabaret in which there were tables and chairs, and refreshing drinks of "cherrie" were served. This was decorated with flags and Japanese lanterns.

No other than those masked were allowed to enter the ground floor during the early party of the evening or before the masks were removed. Everything seemed very weird and the masqueraders didn't look to be a very congenial crowd, for they merely nodded their heads in their salutations to each other. Included in the evening was a number of special features which added much to the pleasantness of the affair. The first was a military exercise of "an awkward squad."

This was funny and caused much laughter. They left the floor when they heard "Mess call" sounded.

"Hick's" band came marching in a little later and played a selection and then "Fatima," who was Mr. Guy Pringle, was announced and made his appearance. He was in oriental dress and gave a dance of the orient. After this number every one secured their partners and lined up for the grand march, which was lead by "Hick's" band. When they had marched a few minutes masks were ordered to be removed and then the march was continued, disbanding after a number of pretty floor movements.

There were several "Moonlight" waltzes, and during the one after the Grand March, Clark's orchestra played "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," and a large American flag, that had been hung overhead and had toy balloons hidden in it, was lowered to the floor and everyone scrambled for a balloon. Also during this time confetti was tossed on the heads of the dancers from the balcony, and in all it made a most fascinating scene. After several dances an enjoyable solo was rendered by J. Fred Alexander and a pretty trombone solo by Floyd McCain. Miss Dorothy Campbell in oriental dress was awarded the prize for the most beautiful costume and Einar Rasmussen as "Billy Bounce" won the prize for the most comical.

Besides those who enjoy dancing there was a large crowd of spectators in the balcony, and in fact one of the largest crowds that ever attended a affair of its kind was present that evening. The Legion organization has only been established in Grayling for a short time. Its members are made up of some of the best young men of Grayling. Those who were present are unanimous in their praise of the fine time they had at the hands of the Legion and their future affairs no doubt will be looked forward to with a great deal of enthusiasm and interest. The affair was one of the most picturesque and enjoyable parties ever given here.

THE MICHELSON MEMORIAL CHURCH.

What is a community? "A body of people having common rights and privileges." A big family is a community—many families living in the same place and having to respect the rights of each other. Does the church appear to be a necessity to a community as stores, banks, schools and shops? If the church is doing its rightful work it is helping folks to better lives. The better lives people live the more easily does the community live together in harmony and peace. Take the churches out of most of the community groups in America and a dog would not live there long. No use to criticize the church for it is resting its case with all the people and all are to blame for what it is. Best is it to boost and make the church a real force for better things.

Three hundred children are enrolled in the Sunday School of this church. If the children are worth saving this makes a worth while thing—this Sunday school or any Sunday school. Come and see the graded work of the school next Sunday it is fine.

Last Thursday evening sixty people gathered for a social time at the church. This feature is to be monthly and different each month.

Next Sunday the services are for all who will come. Morning service at ten-thirty, evening service at seven. Sunday School at eleven forty-five.

BELGIUM SKETCHES

The Fire of Madame There

By Katharine Eggleston Roberts.

(Copyright, 1929 Western Newspaper Union)

They marched into a town of empty streets, closed doors, and drawn blinds—those men with sharp spined helmets. Their heavy tramp upon the cobblestones resounded in the narrow rain-drenched lanes until they halted in the little square. Frightened eyes peeped from behind the shuttered windows—watched and trembled to see. The Germans had taken Aerschoot. As the heavy clouds blackened into night, the only lights were those made by the troops in the square.

The house of Mathieu There was dark like the others.

"Mother, let's light the lamp. It's so awful here in the dark." "No, Andre, we mustn't. Be brave like your brothers. See, Pierre and Paul don't mind the dark, do you my sons?" Madame There put a reassuring arm about her youngest and felt his shoulders stiffen.

The two boys stood with their father at the other window.

"No, I don't mind the dark but I am hungry." There was two years older than Andre, too old to fear the dark and too young to fear the Germans.

But Paul did not answer. He stood with his arm locked within his father's and stared out grimly at the moving silhouettes. His army had refused him just because he was a year or so too young. Who difference did age make? He was as strong as any man and he might have been out fighting instead of hiding here in the dark.

The soldiers were stirring about and forming into small detachments. Their helmets gleamed in the flickering light of the street lamps. A sharp order was given.

"They are coming," said Mathieu There.

The butt of a gun thudded on the street door. "Come out, come out where we can see you. Come out or you shall feel fire."

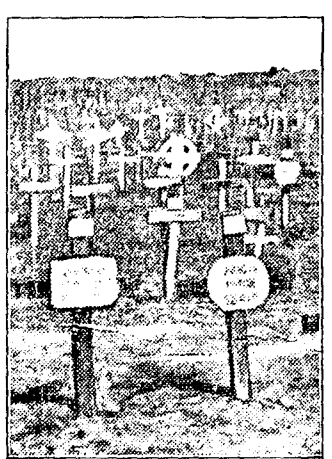

"Let us go together. It is all that we can do." The father led his family into the street.

Quickly the narrow lanes filled as the houses emptied—filled with people who dared not speak aloud. "What are they going to do?" "Where are we going?" "What are they doing now?" The terrified whispers ques-

"Your men are not going with us to Paris. They are too much trouble. You'll find them in the field east of town."

And they saw them—two hundred men and boys lying riddled with bullets. Madame There found her husband and Paul with Andre between them and near their tiny Pierre. In a cart, she carried them to the churchyard and there she made a prayer and buried them herself, for the priest was among those who lay in the field. She moved about as one in a dream, mechanically—a tall blond haired woman whose blue eyes seemed not to see, whose twisted lips were silent.

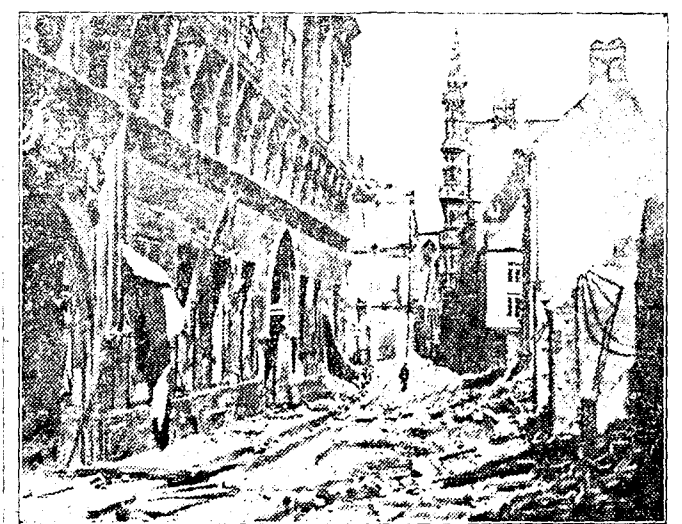

Slowly the long days dragged for Madame There, living with others in a house not wholly gutted. But she had a task to perform. In the wreck of her home, she found the flat top of a table. She took it away with her and, secretly, she worked and scraped at it until it was smooth and clean.

"Here Lies Mathieu There."

One by one irregular letters grew and struggled over the board. The people who knew her wondered, and they whispered among themselves. "What is going on with Madame There? Surely her mind is gone." And the soldiers who saw her each day stepped aside to let her pass, for they feared the woman who never spoke with her lips but whose eyes burned into their souls.

The sentry tramped up and down in the moonlight and his thoughts were far away. The same moon was shining in Germany on a little village like this one and here he had to stay guarding a cemetery where no one wanted to come and from which no one could go. At home—he didn't see the comforting figure that held the hedge as he turned the corner. In the moon-lighted, in the ill-lit streets, faces peered trying to recognize neighbors. Then came the order to march with upraised arms. Families were separated. Lost babies cried. Women shrieked the names of their husbands and children. Everywhere was confusion. But in spite of it all, Mathieu and Madame There and their sons managed to keep together till the people were herded into the market-place before the church. A light was coming from somewhere behind them—a light that grew redder and redder.

"Hush, Andre, I do not know."

"It's the houses. They've fired the town." Paul's voice was thick.

The crowd was ordered about. "You wouldn't have lights? Well you have them now," a German voice taunted "See them?"

As the flames whipped over the roofs, the soldiers went through the throng. "You are going to Paris?" they said. "Your men and boys must march ahead of us."

Madame There stood as her husband and sons were marched away—stood with the other women gazing wide-eyed and mute. The flames of the town died down and the gray dawn came to the women huddled together in the market place. The soldiers laughed into their grief-laden faces. "Go home," they said. "Go to your homes."

Home? Madame There, scarcely knowing what she did, went to a heap of bricks and mortar facing the square. Part of a church wall was standing and she started through its scudding doorway. Suddenly there burst a flash. She listened and again the shots rang out. She hurried to the square where other women can about. "Our soldiers are coming to help us. They are fighting. Hush!" But no it could not be that for no more shot were fired.

"Sh—what is he saying?"

Across the graves lay Madame There and the fire was gone from her eyes.

Here lie Mathieu There and his sons

Paul, Pierre, and Andre, guileless, murdered by the Boche Barbarians.

Madame There hurried to answer the sharp rap at the door. "Is this yours?" demanded the soldier. In his hand was the wooden tablet.

"It is mine."

"Don't leave it about," he growled and flung it at her feet.

"It will stay one day in spite of you," she cried.

Day after day, he met her going to church. She became so worn and emaciated that it seemed only her spirit was alive, but it gleamed brightly and more brightly in the flame of her eyes. And so the long time passed. Always the German soldier thought the fire of Madame There would surely burn out, but daily her challenge scorched into his conscience.

Then in the chill autumn, came word that was unbelievable. An armistice had been signed. The firing had stopped, and the Germans were ordered to leave Aerschoot.

For the last time the sentry guarded the cemetery. For the first time the dawn flushed on a quiet world. As the light grew, the soldier looked about. What was that? He entered the churchyard. At the head of the four graves, the wooden mark stood truly:

Here lie Mathieu There and his sons

Paul, Pierre, and Andre, guileless, murdered by the Boche Barbarians.

If You Need a Medicine

You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article does not fulfill the promise of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it. A prominent druggist says: "Take for example, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcels post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

"It will stay one day in spite of you," she cried.

Day after day, he met her going to church. She became so worn and emaciated that it seemed only her spirit was alive, but it gleamed brightly and more brightly in the flame of her eyes. And so the long time passed. Always the German soldier thought the fire of Madame There would surely burn out, but daily her challenge scorched into his conscience.

Then in the chill autumn, came word that was unbelievable. An armistice had been signed. The firing had stopped, and the Germans were ordered to leave Aerschoot.

For the last time the sentry guarded the cemetery. For the first time the dawn flushed on a quiet world. As the light grew, the soldier looked about. What was that? He entered the churchyard. At the head of the four graves, the wooden mark stood truly:

Here lie Mathieu There and his sons

Paul, Pierre, and Andre, guileless, murdered by the Boche Barbarians.

Across the graves lay Madame There and the fire was gone from her eyes.

The Remond family from Porto Rico, according to the files of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, sent $91,000 into the American forces and made this money, which was almost twice enough for a battalion, from their own savings. The money was used for the purchase of food, clothing, and other necessities for the troops.

Another Tuscola county paper has ceased to exist. The last one to succumb to the high cost of materials and lack of sufficient support from the home town merchants, is the Akron Leader. During the past 27 years five parties have tried to give the town a good newspaper, but the pressure is too heavy for the supporters. In these days of the high cost of material and men the town will probably never again have a newspaper to represent it. The cost of print paper is being advanced until it is almost a prohibitive price for newspapers to publish at old rate of subscription and advertising. Many papers are raising their advertising and subscription rates. The publishers have been the last to advance their prices and yet for several years they have been obliged to pay the increase in all other calls on daily life. No one can accuse the country publisher of profiteering.

NEW PERMIT SYSTEM PLANNED

Doctors Or Druggists Who Dispense
Liquor Must Obtain Permits
From Federal Officials.

Washington—Methods by which intoxicating liquors may be obtained for medicinal purposes and detailed regulations governing their sale were made public last week by the bureau of internal revenue.

Both the physician who prescribes and the pharmacist who sells liquor, the regulations provide, must have a permit which may be obtained from the federal prohibition director. Other details of the method by which liquor for medicinal purposes may be purchased follow:

"Any physician licensed to practice medicine and actively engaged in the practice of such profession may obtain a permit to prescribe intoxicating liquor and then may issue prescriptions for distilled spirits, wines or certain alcoholic medicinal preparations for medical purposes for persons upon whom he is in attendance in case where he believes the use of liquor as a medicine is necessary. In no case may spirituous liquor be prescribed by one or more physicians in excess of one pint for the same person within any period of 10 days.

"Physicians also may obtain permit entitling them to procure not more than six quarts of distilled spirits, wines or certain alcoholic preparations during any calendar year for administration to their patients in emergency cases where delay in procuring liquor on a prescription through a pharmacist might have serious consequence to the patient."

Announcement also was made that the bureau had compiled a system of permits providing a definite and fixed channel through which all intoxicating liquors must move and by which hereafter the government will know the location of every gallon of distilled liquor within the nation's boundaries, except that stored in private homes.

Mr. Roper also announced that all liquor seized under federal law prior to last October 28, unless claimed under the 60 days' ruling, would be sold by order of the court under the jurisdiction of which it is held. It must be sold, however, to a holder of a permit to use it either for medicinal or non-beverage purposes.

"FLU" EPIDEMIC IS STATE-WIDE

Approximately 15,000 Cases Reported to Health Board Last Week.

Lansing—The total influenza cases in Michigan reached approximately 15,000 last week. Eleven more counties reported the appearance of the disease. They are Iron, Cheboygan, Alcona, Gladwin, Arenac, Newaygo, Huron, Clinton, Hillsdale, Monroe and Casson.

There are 22 counties in the two peninsulas which had not yet reported cases.

Local conditions should govern the closing of schools and public gatherings the state health authorities say. Dr. R. F. Olin, state health officer, advises surgeons not to operate except in emergency cases, because of the shortage of nurses and the prevalence of the germ streptococcus.

Flu Spreads in Army.

Washington—On increase in the number of cases of influenza among the American troops in Siberia is shown by latest reports. The report also showed the death rate among troops in Germany continued high.

HOUSTON NEW TREASURY HEAD

Mr. Meredith is 54 years old and his home is in Des Moines. Before starting the Successful Farming he was the publisher of the Farmers' Tribune. He was a candidate for the United States senate in 1914 and for governor of Iowa in 1916.

As soon as Secretary Houston qualifies, Mr. Glass will take his seat in the senate to succeed the late Senator Martin of Virginia.

TO MEXICO ENDS WORK

HENRY P. FLETCHER.

Washington—Henry P. Fletcher has resigned as American ambassador to Mexico, to take effect in the next few weeks.

Those in position to know the cause of Mr. Fletcher's decision are convinced that he believes a continuation of the efforts he has made in the last four years to bring the Carranza government into accord with the United States Government would be futile.

He terminates 18 years of service in the diplomatic corps, without any particular plans for his own future, particular plans.

FUEL SHORTAGE HITS STATE

Industrial Tieup Threatened—Rail Administration Blamed.

Detroit.—Industries of Detroit and Michigan, facing an acute shortage of freight cars and fuel, attributed to mismanagement by the federal railroad administration, will have to start closing down next week, unless immediate relief is offered.

This statement was given out from two sources: Alex Dow, president of Detroit Edison company, and John L. Loyett, general manager of the Michigan Manufacturers' association. According to Mr. Dow the present fuel shortage can be charged to the failure of the federal railroad administration to provide sufficient locomotives to handle traffic.

So serious is the situation at the Edison plant that telegrams appealing for aid from the railroad administration headquarters at New York and Washington were sent to Regional Director A. T. Hardin and Congressman Frank E. Doremus.

ARMY NEEDS 75,000 RECRUITS

in Enlistment Drive.

Washington.—Secretary Baker has addressed a letter to the governor of each state requesting his official cooperation in the nation-wide recruiting drive to be inaugurated by the war department and to be intensified February 22 to 29, which is to be made national enlistment week.

Army officials say a minimum of 75,000 new enlistments would be required before March 31, in order that the best results can be obtained from the training of the reorganized army.

Each unit in the new army has been assigned to a specific locality from which it will draw all its enlisted personnel, the purpose being to engender local interest.

LOAN TO FEED EUROPE PASSES

House Committee Recommends Passage of Relief Measure.

Washington.—An agreement has been reached by the House Ways and Means Committee to recommend passage of legislation authorizing new government loans of $50,000,000 for European food relief.

Democratic members reserved the right, when the bill is before the House to propose an increase to $125,000,000, the sum approved by Treasury officials. President Wilson and Herbert C. Hoover, former food administrator, had approved a loan of $150,000,000.

The legislation will not specify any countries which may receive the loans, the committee deciding that the bill would merely state that the relief would go "to populations in the countries of Europe or countries contiguous thereto."

Income Tax Returns Rule Tightened.

Washington.—Abolishment of tentative returns on income taxes, in use for several years, was announced by Commissioner Roper, of the Internal Revenue Bureau. In making a report on 1919 incomes, taxpayers will not be permitted to estimate their incomes or their taxes. The correct amount of taxes, Mr. Roper warned, must be in the hands of revenue collectors by March 15. Internal revenue officers have arranged, however, to take care of exceptional cases.

FORMER ARMY FLYER CHANGING PLANES IN MIDAIR

Standing on the upper wing of the lower plane, Wilson grasped the lower wing of the upper plane and swung himself to it, absolutely unaided. Of the many plane-changing feats performed recently it is safe to assume that this is the most daring. Wilson was in the aviation corps of the army.

Fight Cause of Bean Blight.

Of many attempts to bring the bacteria blight of beans under control, the most successful at the Oklahoma agricultural experiment station has been the use of aged seed. It was known that the bacteria retained the power of growth for only a limited time, and infected seed was saved for experiment. Seed four and five years old never produced blighted plants, the low percentage of germination, however, making such seeds valueless for practical bean growing. Seed two and three years old has also given blight-free plants, with one exception, and that is attributed to accidental infection. It is concluded the use of bean seed two or three years old will yield blight-free plants on uninfected land when at sufficient distance from other bean patches to avoid accidental infection. Seed of these ages have a percentage of germination sufficiently high for practical use.

DAIRY FACTS

HOW TUBERCULOSIS SPREADS

Different Means by Which Malady May Be Introduced Into Healthy Herd of Dairy Cows.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Tuberculosis may be introduced into a healthy herd by any of the following means:

Addition of an animal that is infected with the disease. Animals should be purchased from herds known to be free from tuberculosis or from herds under supervision for the eradication of the disease.

Feeding calves with milk or other dairy products from tuberculous cows. This frequently occurs where the owner purchases mixed skim milk from the creamery and feeds it to his calves without first making it safe by boiling or pasteurization.

Careless showing of cattle at fairs and exhibitions. Reports have indicated that numerous herds have become infected through mingling with diseased cattle at shows or by occupying infected premises.

Shipment of animals in cars which have recently carried diseased cattle and which have not been disinfected properly.

Use of community pastures in which tuberculous cattle are allowed to graze.

In most cases the outward appearance of the animal bears no relation to the degree of infection. The disease frequently develops so slowly that in some cases it may be months, or even longer, before any symptoms are shown; therefore be on the safe side and have your herd tested.

BIG PRODUCTION OF BUTTER

Immense Amount Made Does Not Meet Domestic Requirements—Factory Product Increases.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The butter industry of the United States is so large that more than a ton of butter was made for every minute, day and night, last year, according to dairy specialists. Yet even this enormous production scarcely meets domestic needs.

The output of factory butter has increased approximately 200,000,000 pounds each ten years since 1880. Farm butter making reached its maximum production about 1900. The present trend indicates that it will become a less and less important factor in the nation's butter supply, being superseded by the factory product. Production of factory butter in the United States shows a more rapid general upward trend than is observed in any foreign country from which dependable butter figures have been obtained. The number of such countries, however, is relatively small. Production of renovated butter in the United States is declining. This condition evidently results from reduced supplies of low-quality farm butter, the chief product from which renovated butter is made.

OFFICIAL TEST FIXES VALUE

Dairy Cow Not Measured by Her Pedigree or Appearance—Must Be Able to Produce.

The time is unmistakably passed when a dairy cow is measured entirely by her pedigree or her appearance. The official test of production is the factor that fixes her value. Naturally she must have type and individuality, but unless she is able to produce she will not be keenly sought in the advertising columns nor in the sale ring.

Work of Cream Separator.

When properly handled, a good cream separator should not leave more than 10 per cent of butterfat in the skim milk. This means that only one pound of fat is left for every 200 taken out.

SEDATE ALL-DAY FROCKS

ONE-PIECE dresses serving the same purposes that suits and blouses do are better described by their newer name, all-day frocks. It tells their story of good service, morning or afternoon. They have been made in a few very good styles, of the same serviceable materials that are used for suits, and they have come to stay. The all-day frock and the separate skirt and blouse make a welcome variety in the apparel of active women and especially of business women. Worn under heavy coats in midwinter they are warmer than suits, and worn without a wrap when the weather is mild they are less burdensome. But leaving out these practical considerations altogether, they hold a secure place in our regard because they are dependable and offer variety in the dress of busy women.

Nearly all these one-piece frocks are simple in design and many of them have been converted into frocks after doing service as suits. It is an advantage to have them simple because one does not grow tired of simple things. We may become unimpressed of them, but they will not get on our nerves as fussier things do if we wear them often. As an example of simplicity the all-day frock shown above challenges comparisons. Except for a little braid couched on in the simplest of patterns and a few bone buttons set in a row at each side, it offers nothing to take our attention away from its trim fit and business-like air. A silk cord with tassels protrudes to adjust the frock to the waist line, but that matter is taken care of in reality without its help. It makes a very fine finishing touch, however.

Silk braid has been cleverly used as a decoration for these smart all-day frocks, as it has for suits. In the dress above, long lines at the sides are accented by buttons, but in a new model short tabs of silk braid were used for this purpose. Sometimes both braid and buttons appear on a frock and they seem even better suited to it and to each other than embroidery and buttons. Some models are embellished with embroidery in bands or squares, or triangles, in set designs that are in keeping with the character of the dresses, which is sedate. But they make the right kind of background for crisp collars and cuffs if one chooses to furnish them up a bit.

Silk Culture Old.

Silk culture, according to Chinese authorities, was begun in 2900 B. C. by Si-Ling, wife of Emperor Hoang Ti.

EVERY scrap of linen is precious these days and cotton cloth is better worth saving than for many years. Both are high priced and nothing in sight just now indicates that they will be lower priced. Tablecloths and sheets wear out much faster in the middle than about the edges and their usefulness can be prolonged by making them over or converting them into other articles.

Take a large tablecloth, for instance, that has thin spots where stains have been bleached or washed out. When it is not strong enough to make darning worth while it can be converted into a smaller cloth and into dollies and center pieces. For a square lunch cloth and these parts are cut into four squares and these set together with a strong band of hand crochet or imitation cluny lace. This makes a smaller cloth in four sections crossed by two bands of lace at right angles. The edge is finished with a narrow hem and an edging of crochet or other lace may be added to this.

Enough linen can be salvaged from a worn cloth to make the handy and attractive breakfast or luncheon sets that replace cloths so often. They are more easily laundered and stay clean longer than table cloths. A circular centerpiece and dollies in two sizes—also circular—are cut from the best parts of the cloth and hemmed in a very narrow hem about the edges. After hemming the edges, a narrow crocheted edge makes a pretty finish, either in white or colored mercerized cotton; the narrow hem may be basted down and buttonhole-stitched in white and black loss or machine-stitched with a narrow tatted edging basted over it so that the hem and lace are put on with one stitching of the sewing machine. Many housewives convert the good parts of worn linen cloths into square table napkins, machine stitching narrow hems in them, and use even the worn parts for cup towels or wash cloths.

Wide sheets that have become worn at the middle are cut in two pieces. Then the outer edges are sewed together in a flat seam. This puts the unworn parts of the sheets at the middle. The raw edges are hemmed down. If the sheet is considerably worn it is made much narrower to serve for a single bed and the worn portion cut away.

Old sheets are relied upon to make new coverings for ironing boards, as the used ones become discolored. They serve, also, with old pillow cases, as pressing cloths when wooden clothes need freshening up. The garments are pressed under dampened cloth which is ironed until dry, as every one knows, and the steam penetrating woolen fabrics freshens them up as nothing else will.

Worn pillow cases are very useful for protecting blouses, waists and children's dresses from dust when they are kept hanging in closets. For light-colored and dainty garments provide hangers of wire or wood. Cut a hole in the middle of the end of an old pillow case to slip the hook on the hanger through. After the waist or frock has been placed on the hanger put the pillow case over it. This is a great protection to light colors and to fabrics that gather dust, like velvet. It is much better to have one or two bags extending across the closet and hang the clothes from them than to flatten them against walls by hanging to the ordinary wall hooks.

A Flattering Veil. Since gay hats are the favorite of the hour, lay aside the all-black one for a change and try some of the really lovely feather and foliage turbans with which the shops abound. Try a veil that matches your hat or dress rather than a black one and see whether your mirror does not reflect a less tired face. Veils are very kind to most of us, young or old, and the new ones with fine hair meshes sprinkled with French dots are a godsend after the many bizarre one-figure veils that have kept us busy deciding whether the design was a blemish or a decoration. The tattoo-effect was overdone.

Short Sleeves Becoming.

Short sleeves are kindest to young girls as they give them a chance to wear on their wrists circlets of narrow black velvet ribbon, topped with a tiny sweetheart rose or forget-me-not, and suggesting to admiring beholders hoop skirts and beauty patches. They are really very quaint and becoming.

JURY PICKED, VOTE FRAUD CASE OPENS

TRIAL OF NEWBERRY AND 122 CO-DEFENDANTS UNDER WAY AT GRAND RAPIDS.

SICKNESS MAY DELAY CASE

Number of Respondents Too Ill to Appear in Court—All Jurymen Are From Small Towns.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—With the preliminaries completed last Saturday, after three and one-half days of sparring by opposing counsel in the selection of a jury, the gong has sounded for the big fight that has grown out of a tremendous effort to discredit United States Senator Truman H. Newberry and 122 co-defendants, who are to be tried in district court here on charges of conspiracy.

It was expected that the examination of witnesses would start on February 3.

The following are the men whose decision, two months or more hence, will be fought for with every ounce of skill the picked legal experts of the state and country can bring to bear:

Jury No. 1—C. A. Anderson, 52 years old, a grain dealer at Vermontville, Eaton county, a naturalized Swede.

No. 2—Henry J. Smith, 22 years old, cattle buyer, Luther, Lake county.

No. 3—A. H. Bell, 42, produce buyer, Middleville, Barry county.

No. 4—Carl R. Palmer, 45, also a produce man, Honor, Benzie county.

No. 5—William A. Young, 48, farmer, P. R. D. Fremont, Newaygo county.

No. 6—Eugene E. Strand, 42, farmer, R. F. D. Charlevoix, Charlevoix county.

No. 7—Edward Anderson, 59, farmer, R. F. D. Tustin, Oscoda county, naturalized Norwegian.

No. 8—William A. Young, 48, manager of a co-operative grain elevator and other community enterprises at Bellevue, Eaton county.

No. 9—Sheridan G. Long, 52, farmer, P. F. D. Newaygo, Newaygo county.

No. 10—Edwin Pharr, 44, farmer and miller, R. F. D. Maple City, Leelanau county.

No. 11—Martin Block, 38, grocer, at Charlevoix.

No. 12—Clarence W. Rasey, 47, farmer, R. F. D. Holton, Muskegon county.

While every effort has been made to guard against selection of jurors who were active politically, it seems agreed that all but William A. Young, Democrat, and C. A. Anderson, politics undetermined, are Republicans.

Sickness is a source of anxiety to the Court and Government attorney, who fear that the illness of a juror would result in a mistrial.

600 SINN FEIN LEADERS JAILED

British Make Wholesale Arrest of Irish Republicans.

Dublin.—About 600 persons were arrested by the British military authorities throughout Ireland last Saturday in the biggest and most drastic series of raids that has yet been undertaken against the Sinn Fein.

British warships carried the prisoners to England, where they were put in English jails.

Among the captives were many Sinn Fein officials who were elected to office in the recent local elections throughout Ireland.

When the councils of Dublin, Cork and other places elected Sinn Fein mayors they refused to appoint sheriffs, because this would have necessitated swearing allegiance to the King.

Jap Pays to Remain in Jail.

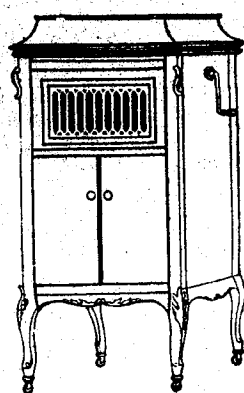

Los Angeles, Calif.—Accused on a charge of murder, O. Kaneda went back to jail here for an indefinite stay, at his own request, paying bond to the sheriff for the privilege of remaining. Kaneda was accused of having caused the death of another Japanese here recently. He was discharged after his trial, but his attorney told the court that the man feared the vengeance of friends of the deceased and wanted permission to stay in jail until he could arrange to leave the city.

U. S. Firms Willing to Sell to Reds.

Martens, unrecognized ambassador to the United States from soviet Russia, transmitted to the senate investigating committee the names of 341 American concerns which, he claimed, were willing to do business with soviet Russia. The Banquet.

The annual banquet was served in the large dining room of the Wagonah hotel and was one of the most enjoyable of the seven similar affairs held since the development bureau was organized.

Following the excellent dinner President Snody introduced Geo. L. Lusk, secretary of the Michigan Public Domain Commission, as toastmaster and Mr. Lusk welcomed all present, as a Bay Cityan, to his home town.

Gov. Sleeper was on the program to speak on "The Michigan Park Commission" but the governor was out of the state and he was represented by his secretary, Major Ralph Duff, who gave a short talk on the plans of the new park commission and said that he believed the future would show that this state park plan, fathered by Governor Sleeper, would be looked upon as the greatest work.

N. P. Hull, president of the Grange Life Insurance association, who was on the program to speak on "The Farmer," was unable to be present.

Julius Beal, member of the Board of Regents of the U. of M. and of the public domain commission, spoke on "A New Bird Discovered in Northern Michigan." He told of the efforts of the public domain commission to make the most out of the state-owned lands through opening them for settlement, where available for farming purposes, and through re-forestation plans. He told of the work of fire protection, carried on jointly by the state and the federal government, and his "new bird" was the use of the aeroplanes for patrolling the forest regions and discovering fires in their incipency, a plan which has proved successful in the far west.

John I. Gibson, secretary of the West Michigan Development bureau, told of the great work both bureaus have done, of their co-operation at all times and he told the audience that their only fault was in not giving their bureau greater financial support. "What your bureau has done in the matter of increasing the livestock herds in your district and in inducing breeders to pay more attention to pure bred stock has been worth more to the district than all you have spent on it, and that has been only one of the many activities it has carried on."

Circuit Judge West of Lansing spoke briefly on "Citizenship." He declared that any person or any organization advocating the overthrow of the established government of America by force is a national enemy and that the nation must leave nothing undone to rid itself of such people.

"Americanism" was the subject of Rev. J. Roy Van Wyck, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. "The principles upon which the United States government are founded are the valid principles upon which we can work out a system of men living together," he said. "They have formed the foundation of over a score of governments now in existence and I trust that are long they will form the foundation of a federation of the entire world, under which all people may live in harmony."

During the evening a musical entertainment was given by Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan, interspersed with other parts of the program and the guests joined in singing several popular songs.

Following the program, moving pictures depicting farm, ranch and factory scenes in northeastern Michigan were shown.

FREE METHODIST CHURCH.

We were privileged to have with us over Sunday, Rev. Ray Carpenter of Manvelona, who was on his way to Bay City to help in revival meetings.

Rev. Carpenter was an inspiration in preaching and in song.

The church was filled over Sunday and people gave earnest attention and many were convicted of sin and felt their need of being converted.

The pastor and members are encouraged.

Announcements for this week are as follows:

Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock—Woman's Charitable society at Mrs. Chappel's home.

Cottage prayer meeting Tuesday evening.

Prayer meeting in the church Thursday evening.

Sunday services:

Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.

Praise service at 11:00.

Preaching at 7:00 p. m.

We preach the old-fashioned gospel.

Rev. Daniel Skanes, Pastor.

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION.

There are people who never have a movement of the bowels without it is produced by a cathartic. Most of them have brought that condition on themselves by the use of mineral waters and strong cathartics that take too much water out of the system and aggravate the disease they are meant to relieve. A mild laxative tonic like Chamberlain's Tablets affords a gentle movement of the bowels that you hardly realize has been produced by a medicine, and their use is not so likely to be followed by constipation.

The yard.

A yard can be made an ideal playground at a moderate expense. Playing in sand appeals more than anything else to children of three and four years. It will engross and keep them occupied for hours at a time. Therefore, the first thing to put in the yard is a sand box. This can be done by nailing four boards together, and partly embedding them in the ground. Babies should not be allowed to play by themselves in the sand until they are old enough to know that they should not put it in their mouths. And none of the children should be permitted to throw sand, because of the danger to the eyes.

Discarded cooking utensils and a few tin spoons give the children an opportunity to imitate mother's fascinating operations in the kitchen. In warm weather they can have water to mix with the sand. This makes the play all the more real and engrossing.

Older children find many more things to do with sand. They pile it up and make hills out of it, dig holes and fill them with water, or make representations of the many things that children love to play and think about.

Pretty patterns can be made in damp sand by drawing with a stick or pressing stones, pebbles or seeds into it, or by using such objects as grooved shells or the rim of a cup.

TRAINING THE LITTLE CHILDREN

SIMPLE DEVICES FOR KEEPING CHILDREN HAPPILY OCCUPIED AND MENTALLY ACTIVE—THEY ALSO HELP TO MAKE MOTHER'S TASKS EASIER.

(By Mrs. Katharine Church Solomon.)

The routine duties of the wife and mother are the same in practically all homes. Food has to be purchased and prepared; the house has to be kept clean and in order; there is shopping to be done, also sewing, mending and washing—a big item in families with young children—and there are the children.

Very often the mother would seem to have little time or strength to spend other than in attention to the children's actual physical care and requirements, and yet by a little wise thinking and arranging she can start many plays and occupations which will not only give the children pleasure and teach them how to do things but result in a quieter, easier and more joyous task for herself.

The Home Atmosphere.

One of the most helpful factors in the harmonious development of mother-and-child life is a right attitude of mind. It is, of course, most desirable that it be one of contentment and peace; but too often mothers, in addition to the work of housekeeping and the bearing and rearing of children, are obliged to contend with problems of sickness and family disagreements. However if she can meet such situations with intelligence, courage and self-control, she will create a home atmosphere which will be measureless in its influence.

The yard.

A yard can be made an ideal playground at a moderate expense. Playing in sand appeals more than anything else to children of three and four years. It will engross and keep them occupied for hours at a time. Therefore, the first thing to put in the yard is a sand box. This can be done by nailing four boards together, and partly embedding them in the ground. Babies should not be allowed to play by themselves in the sand until they are old enough to know that they should not put it in their mouths. And none of the children should be permitted to throw sand, because of the danger to the eyes.

Discarded cooking utensils and a few tin spoons give the children an opportunity to imitate mother's fascinating operations in the kitchen. In warm weather they can have water to mix with the sand. This makes the play all the more real and engrossing.

Older children find many more things to do with sand. They pile it up and make hills out of it, dig holes and fill them with water, or make representations of the many things that children love to play and think about.

Pretty patterns can be made in damp sand by drawing with a stick or pressing stones, pebbles or seeds into it, or by using such objects as grooved shells or the rim of a cup.

Gardening is one of the most wholesome and healthful ways in which children can be employed. Each child may well have a space in the yard allotted to him for planting and tending a little garden of his very own.

All kinds of outdoor games can be played in the yard and the children can romp to their hearts' content. For the young children, games with a rubber ball or with bean bags are the best.

Older children enjoy having a swing, but it is likely to be dangerous for the little ones when they are running heedlessly about.

Play Materials.

Almost all children have wooden blocks of one kind or another to play with and they scarcely need to be shown what to do with them. They love to make such things as houses, trains, trolleys, cars, buildings, bridges and furniture. Any materials that lend themselves to representation of this kind are a delight to children. Kindergarten tablets (round, square, oblong and triangular pieces of wood of the dimension of one inch) can be used for representing many things; also colored sticks and slats of different lengths, and seeds of different varieties. A catalogue of kindergarten materials will be sent upon request, by Milton Bradley Company, Springfield, Mass., or by E. Steiger & Co., 49 Murray street, New York.

In the same way children enjoy representing objects in clay, and by drawing and painting. Clay work, however, is better left for school by mothers who have much to do, as work in this material requires considerable attention and direction.

Please pass this article on to a friend and thus help Uncle Sam reach all the mothers of the country.

NATURE TELLS YOU.

As Many a Grayling Reader Knows Too Well.

When the kidneys are weak, Nature tells you about it.

The urine is nature's index. Infrequent or too frequent passage. Other disorders suggest kidney ills. Doan's Kidney Pills are for disordered kidneys.

Grayling people testify to their worth.

Niels H. Nielsen, carpenter, Park St., Grayling says: "I had trouble with my back and kidneys for several years. My back ached constantly and was so stiff I could hardly bend over. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage, too. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Lewis, Drug store, and they did me more good than anything else I had ever used. They always rid me of an attack in a short time."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Nielsen had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

"As I feel that every family should know what a splendid medicine Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is I am only too pleased to relate my experience and only wish that I had known of its merits years ago," writes Mrs. Clay Fry, Ferguson Station, Mo. "I give it to my children when they show the slightest symptoms of being croupy, and when I have a cough or cold on the lungs a very few doses will relieve me, and by taking it for a few days I soon get rid of the cold."

Biliousness

WHEN you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. There is nothing better.

Chamberlain's Tablets

THIS WILL ASTONISH GRAYLING PEOPLE.

The quick action of simple witch-hazel, camphor, hydrastis, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash, will surprise Grayling people. One girl with weak, strained eyes was helped by a single application. Her mother could hardly sew or read because of eye pains. In one week she too was benefited. We guarantee a small bottle of Lavoptik to help any case weak, strained or inflamed eyes. Aluminum eye cup free. A. M. Lewis, druggist, eye cup free.

EXCEPTION TO THE RULE.

"Now, in order to subtract," the teacher explained, "things have always to be of the same denomination. For instance, we couldn't take three apples from four pears, nor six horses from nine dogs."

"Teacher!" shouted a small boy, "you can take four quarts of milk from three cows."

DOLLARS AND CENTS.

Counting it only in dollars and cents, how much did that last cold cost you? A man may not always stop work when he has a cold, but perhaps it would be better if he did. It takes about ten days to get completely rid of a cold under the usual treatment. That time can be much shortened by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and proper care of yourself. In fact, a bottle of this remedy in the house is a mighty good investment during the winter and spring months. Adv.

It is surprising how quickly eye inflammation is helped by common witch-hazel, camphor, hydrastis, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash. One elderly lady, who had been troubled with chronic eye inflammation for many years, was greatly helped in two days. We guarantee a small bottle of Lavoptik to help any case weak, strained or inflamed eyes. Aluminum eye cup free. A. M. Lewis, druggist.

The Best Cough Medicine.

When a druggist finds that his customers all speak well of a certain preparation, he forms a good opinion of it and when in need of such a medicine is almost certain to use it himself and in his family. This is why so many druggists use and recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. J. B. Jones, a well known druggist of Cubrun, Ky., says, "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for the past seven years, and have found it to be the best cough medicine I have ever known."
